Editorial Review

Review

There is much to like in this field guide.

The text is accurate, informative, and useful. --Minnesota River Valley Audubon Society

This is a well thought-out guide. The bird illustrations are large and inviting paintings. The descriptive text for each species is written in layman's terms for the beginner, but includes some points of interest for more advanced birders. --The Cardinal, St. Paul Audubon Society newsletter

About the Author

BOB JANSSEN is one of Minnesota's top birding experts. For many years he was editor of the quarterly journal of the Minnesota Ornithologists' Union and is a past president of that organization. Bob is a coordinator of the Minnesota Breeding Bird Survey for the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and consults for the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources. He is author of three books on Minnesota birds. DARYL TESSEN has been a birder in Wisconsin virtually his entire life, starting his passion for bird-watching when just a young child. Daryl was born and raised in Appleton, Wisconsin, the town to which he retired after a 33-year career as a high school biology teacher in Illinois. Daryl has been a member of the Wisconsin Society for Ornithology for over 45 years and is associate editor of the Society's journal The Passenger Pigeon. He has been an editor of the popular book "Wisconsin's Favorite Bird Haunts" and spent 24 years as regional editor in the Western Great Lakes for NORTH AMERICAN BIRDS. GREGORY KENNEDY has been an active naturalist and adventurer since he was a young boy. He is the author of many books on natural history and has produced film and television work on environmental issues and indigenous concerns in southeast Asia, New Guinea, South and Central America and the high Arctic. His involvement in numerous research projects around the world range from studies in the upper canopy of tropical and temperate rainforests to deepwater marine investigations.
