Far from Fair By Elana K. Arnold

Odette Zyskowski has a list: Things That Aren't Fair. At the top of the list is her parents' decision to take the family on the road in an ugly RV they've nicknamed the Coach. There's nothing fair about leaving California and living in the cramped Coach with her parents and exasperating younger brother, sharing one stupid cell phone among the four of them. And there's definitely nothing fair about what they find when they reach Grandma Sissy's house, hundreds of miles later. Most days it seems as if everything in Odette's life is far from fair. Is there a way for her to make things right?

With warmth and sensitivity, Elana K. Arnold makes the difficult topics of terminal illness and the right to die accessible to young readers.

Editorial Review

Review

2017 ILA-CBC Children's Choice List

"A tearjerker with a brain, this could prompt discussion not only of the right to die issue but also power and fairness."

—Bulletin

* "Arnold's descriptive prose and short, episodic chapters warmly relay the family's struggles. It's an engaging, emotional ride as Odette learns the truth of one of her grandmother's sayings: 'Even in the bad... there is opportunity for good.'"

—Publishers Weekly, STARRED review

"An affecting, delicately handled story of growing up."

—Kirkus

Praise for The Question of Miracles:

* "...Unfolds with heartbreaking believability."—Publishers Weekly, starred review

* "...Will catch readers, and help pull them toward seeking answers of their own for the story's very large questions."—Booklist, starred review
